

Afua Bruce Biography

Afua Bruce is a leading public interest technologist who has spent her career working at the intersection of technology, policy, and society. Her career has spanned the government, non-profit, private, and academic sectors, as she has held senior science and technology positions at the White House, the FBI, and IBM. Afua is currently the Chief Program Officer at DataKind, a nonprofit whose mission is to harness the power of data science and AI in service of humanity; at DataKind, Afua leads the technical team, the global volunteers team, and the center of excellence to develop data science and AI solutions for social sector organizations around the world. Afua has a bachelor's degree in computer engineering, as well as an MBA. She is co-author of the book The Tech That Comes Next: How changemakers, philanthropists, and technologists create an equitable world, out in March 2022. She is also currently writing picture books that feature women in STEM of different technical, ethnic, and regional backgrounds.